mission statement

"Provide professional consulting, design and development marketing services which promote businesses and organizations to improve their exposure, profitability and growth."

Hamilton Innovative is driven to connect all marketing media in web and print to the company's vision and goals targeting the appropriate audience. We pride ourselves in providing a personalized approach to every client's marketing needs with a balanced approach of professionalism, excellence, quality and service.

our history

Our staff collectively has over 60 years of experience in business, sales, marketing, graphic design, web technology and education working in the industry.

Our focus is dedicated to your goals and a solution to accomplish them. It all begins with an idea and understanding your company's objectives. Once clearly defined we, incorporate the right elements to ensure your ongoing success including identity and logos, graphics development, web site development, e-commerce, sales, marketing, technology and implementation.

In January 2007 we launched our new web site at hamiltoninnovative.com in a continued effort to expand operations with additional services and provide even greater value to our customers. We have enjoyed success and great working relationships with our clients and will continue to develop and grow with you.
